ARTIST PORTIA KRUSE

Kruse Art Show Opens In Houston

Recent paintings by Portia Kruse, a native of Cameron and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Kruse, will be presented in a one man show at the David Gallery, 2243 San Felipe Rd., in Houston, from April 14 through May 10.

A well attended show is anticipated in recognition of the growing reputation of Miss Kruse as one of today's promising painters in the field of fine art. Her work is commanding increasing interest in art circles throughout the Southwest, Mexico and the West Indies where her paintings have been shown in competitive and invitational exhibitions.

A painting of a West Indian woman received first award at the Art Of Living Exhibition, held at the Houston Astrodome in October 1966. In December 1966, her work was presented in a one man show in St. Thomas, U.S. Virgin Islands, where it was enthusiastically received. In the past several years Miss Kruse's paintings have been exhibited at the Houston Museum of Fine Arts, the annual Houston Jewish Community Center Show, the Cameron Invitational Art Exhibit, the Art League of Houston's "Outstanding Young Artists Show" and the Beaumont Museum of Fine Arts.

Miss Kruse attended Ada Henderson and Yoe High School, continued her education at the University of Texas, the University of St. Thomas in Houston, the Texas Academy of Art, Houston Museum of Fine Arts, the National University of Mexico and she holds a Bachelors Degree in Fine Arts. She is widely traveled and presently resides in the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Arizona Operator Leases Block In Tracy-Sharp Area

Oil activity in Milam County, which has been practically at a standstill recently, shows signs of improving due to plans by an operator from Arizona to drill on a lease block he has assembled in the Tracy-Sharp area. The operator, Joe Thompson, with mining experience in Arizona, has leased about 3,000 acres in that area of west Milam County and reportedly plans to drill within the next 120 days. A number of shallow tests have been drilled in the area during the past several years, but Thompson reportedly expects to drill much deeper, possibly to 7,000 feet. Location for the wildcard has not yet been staked or reported.

In other oil activity, Herman C. Page of Houston has plugged and abandoned his No. 1 E. C. Scurlock, which was spudded in mid-March. Location of the wildcard was on a 99 acre tract in Benjamin F. Swoap Survey, 3 1/2 miles southeast of Milano.

Shell Oil Co.'s No. 2 Adoue Estate continues to be a question mark and on Monday was still reported as shut in. This wildcard originally was scheduled as a Smackover test, but when trouble with a stuck drillpipe at 14,259 feet could not be overcome, was plugged back to 5,068 feet to test the Austin Chalk.

Drilling crews perforated the wildcard between 5,737-948 feet, then acidized, swabbed and later sandfraced in an effort to complete it as a producer. Reportedly the wildcard produced ten percent oil on test, and at last report remains shut in.

House Ag Committee Views Schiller Bills

The 60th Texas Legislature's Committee on Agriculture has reviewed two bills co-sponsored or proposed by Rep. Milton Schiller, of Cameron.

HB 774 proposes the control and transportation of herbicides, considered by the Agriculture committee April 6. HB 995, proposed by Reps. Delwin Jones, James E. Nugent and Schiller, would establish a Texas Agricultural Board.

Rep Schiller said in a bi-monthly newsletter that "it is our hope to help Texas make more and better use of the abundant agriculture resources."

CANCER DRIVE STARTS MONDAY, WORKERS MEET

Cancer Crusade workers met Wednesday morning to map out plans for a two day drive in Milam County. Milton Schiller, county-wide Crusade chairman, said the door-to-door Crusade would be Monday and Tuesday, April 17 and 18.

He said the purpose was twofold. The workers hope to reach each resident with literature about cancer and the need for regular medical check-ups and second to ask financial help for cancer research, education and service programs.

Clarence Posey is chairman of the Cameron drive. Serving with him are Mrs. Bob Wells, Mrs. Ray Lester and Mrs. W. C. Wallace.

In response to questions about why the Cancer Crusade is not a part of the newly re-organized United Fund Mrs. Wells said, "The April Crusade has become not only a fund raising event but an opportunity to alert the majority of the public to the seriousness of the cancer threat. More people go to their doctors for physical examinations in May and June following the Crusade than at any other time of year."

"By ACS participation in federation with some twenty or more other agencies, the opportunity to place literature in each home at the time of fund-raising would be eliminated. We believe there is room for both federated and independent health agencies and we ask the public to support our cause only in relation to the magnitude of the disease," Mrs. Wells said.

8th Grader Aids Injured Motorist

Veronica White, an 8th grade student at Ada Henderson school, helped an auto accident victim and received a double reward of praise and $10.

Passing a car that had gone off the road on the Rockdale highway, Veronica and her mother, Mrs. Ollie White, stopped to offer help. Using part of a sheet from the family washing in the car, Veronica applied a splint to the driver's broken arm and then took him to the hospital where hospital attendants complimented her quick thinking.

Veronica said she "learned it all from Miss Dallis Young in Physical Ed class."

School Board Elects Duncum President

Coleman Duncum was elected president of the Cameron School Board when it met Thursday. Charles McDermott was elected vice president and Lane Horstmann, secretary.

The Board voted to appoint Supt. D. R. Dodson as representative to the joint committee Education Service Center, Madisonville.

New teachers hired by the School Board Thursday night were Dussie Poole, Edward Aycox and Carrie Lee Milligan.

The three jumped into the water, without life preservers. Three life preservers were left in the boat. His father told rescue workers he extended a paddle to his airman son, but young Dudik apparently could not hold on.

One observer said he saw the young man go down two or three times, but he was beyond reach. The outboard motor boat began to burn when its motor caught fire.

Dudik was a former student at Waco Richfield High School. He had been in the Air Force about a year.

He was McLennan County's first drowning victim.

The airman was home on leave from Vandenberg AFB, Oxnard, Calif., when the accident occurred. Following the drowning, Mrs. Dudik was taken to a Waco hospital where she was treated for shock.

Surviving are: his wife, Linda; his parents, of Waco; and a sister, Miss Veronica Dudik, also of Waco.

Scout Exposition Set For April 22

Services Set For Drowning Victim

Services are pending in Waco for Airman 3-c Jimmie A. Dudik, Jr., 22, who drowned in Lake Waco about 10 a.m. Tuesday.

He is believed to be the grandson of W. C. Dudik, of Buckholts.

Dudik's wife, Linda, 21, and his father, Jimmie Dudik, Sr., 47, both swam to shore from the overturned boat the three were aboard. The outboard motor boat began to burn when its motor caught fire.

With F.M.L.

A newspaperman is unique if his performance is competent. He sometimes generates more controversy in his role than he covers or uncovers.

Newspaper promotion men say that newspapers collectively are too modest.

But, there is reason. We are a medium of communication, and, in the view of The Times' Scotty Reston, of education. Reston has written a book about the role of communicating ideas, not isolated facts.

Facts are brought together so that people together, but individually, can read them... all kinds of facts. All the more, a modern newspaper is like a book. Its staff, like the author, does not stand between news and its readers. They become the intelligent span which bridges the source and the seeker.

In Reston's view, and my own, the newspaper must evaluate, give perspective to facts, simple or complex. More like a book, it is, not in a political sense or an economic sense, but a learning sense.

Americans are inundated with facts, to the point of disbelief. Someone must assimilate and explain. The newspaper which approaches that role is the one considered an institution, a reliable, privately owned, public institution.

This day, it must have one mind as well as one voice. And its acceptance relies on objectivity, which almost demands anonymity. This is impossible on a small newspaper and all the more a test.

The reader wants opinion, but on the editorial page. When he's not emotional, he is smarter than surveys credit. He forms an opinion out of his family, educational and work experience. But if he trusts his newspaper, he considers its opinion.

He wants perspective in his news. It is hard to find any place else. Government handouts, public relations handouts, interests vested in handouts fill the air and the U.S. Mail.

The newspaperman thus "goes to school" in the day-to-day test of his objectivity. If there is glamor, it is an infrequent battle for facts to work with. Quiet competence, in such case, is more effective.

He is hard pressed to stay out of the news in his presentation. So the less petulant, the more effective.

The nature of the work suggests glamor, whose tinsel and sparkle are hard facts. Crystallizing issues is the test.

He lets the nature of the work determine drudgery or glamor. And he tries to stay clear of flying glass.

DIPLOMATIC POUCH

WASHINGTON D.C. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State.

What is Victory?
I hope you will remember that the principle of coexistence has provided an utter failure, and is making a mess of our stand in Vietnam. We must fight to win, or get out! When are we going to win this war in Vietnam, and why not?

T. E. Southfield, Mich.
Dear Mr. E.:
We must bear in mind that victory for us and for South Vietnam is a limited objective. We do not seek to destroy North Vietnam, or even to maintain a base in South Vietnam. We win if North Vietnam leaves South Vietnam alone.

As far how long the war will last, no answer framed in terms of years or months can have validity because so much will depend on North Vietnam's estimate of our own determination and of the determination of the people of South Vietnam to sustain the integrated military, political and economic programs that are essential for success. Should the leaders of North Vietnam conclude that they wish to end the conflict, they could act promptly - almost overnight.

But Hanoi may well persevere in its plan to take over South Vietnam by force. Then the people of South Vietnam and their armed forces, together with our own troops and those of other Free World allies, will have no alternative but to continue the effort in South Vietnam to destroy the main force units of the North Vietnamese Army and of the Viet Cong, and to protect the villages and hamlets from terror, sabotage and guerrilla attack.

We believe that we can win in the sense indicated. First, we have every basis for believing that the people and the leadership of South Vietnam want and intend to persevere in their own defense; they believe, as we do, in the justice of their defense against aggression from the North. Second, assisted by the United States and other Free World allies, the South Vietnamese forces have the will and the capacity to defeat the efforts of Hanoi and the Viet Cong. Our existing and planned American military and economic strength, both within South Vietnam and elsewhere, is clearly sufficient to achieve our objectives.

Working Abroad

Could you please send me information regarding necessary steps in arranging an extended stay in a foreign country, such as Africa. Does one need a special permit to be employed there, or to do volunteer work? What is necessary other than a passport?

V. V. Burns, Kansas

Dear Miss V.:

In addition to a United States passport, many countries require that the traveler obtain from them a visa before traveling to or through their territory. This is usually obtained from their consular representatives resident in the United States or in a third country, or at a point of debarka-tion within their national territory (an airport or port facility). When you apply for your passport raise the question, mentioning the country or countries which you plan to visit.

Each country has its own laws defining the conditions under which a foreigner may or may not be granted permission to work. You may wish to write to the embassy of a particular country for information. Correspondence should be addressed, for example, to: The Embassy of Australia, Washington, D.C.

Do you have an inquiry? Send it to: "The Diplomatic Pouch" P.M.S. Room 4835

Miss Reese Honored Sunday Afternoon With Bridal Shower

BUCKHOLTS
Miss Judy Reese, bride-elect of Thomas E. Benedict, was honored with a bridal shower Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Stanley J. Glaser of Buckholts. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Glaser were Mrs. Edwin F. Fischer, Mrs. A. W. Lange, Mrs. Hulda Pagel, and Mrs. Elsie Wagenfuhr.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Glaser. In the foyer, Miss Angela Pick registered the guests at a table laid with a crocheted cloth and accented with a gold carnation nosegay with light blue satin streamers.

With the honoree in the receiving line were her mother, Mrs. Hubert A. Reese, and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. C. J. Reese.

The tea table was laid with an imported lace cloth over gold linen and centered with a floral arrangement of gold carnations, fern, and light blue lily-of-the-valley and net. Light blue satin streamers bearing the inscription "Judy-Reese-April 22, 1967" in gold flowed from the centerpiece. On the buffet, two silver candelabra holding burning blue tapers enhanced the tea table. Appointments were silver and crystal.

Miss Brenda Pick served the white iced cake squares and Miss Lesa May served the pineapple sherbet punch.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of gold and light blue were used throughout the party rooms.

Others in the houseparty included Mrs. Joe Dean Zajicek, Miss Karen Lange, and Miss Susan Kim May.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a corsage of white carnations and lily-of-the-valley.

Orange Velvet Cream Pie is the thing for spring — lovely to look at, delicious to eat, and inexpensive to make.

The Valencia orange, Florida's prize citrus variety, is what makes this pie so good. This superb orange, with its deep colored peel and fruit, is practically seedless and has exceptionally sweet, rich flavor. Florida is harvesting its biggest orange crop in history this year, and prices are lower than ever. Valencias will be in the market from March to July.

The filling includes the sweet orange juice, unflavored gelatine, and either whipped heavy cream or evaporated milk. Firm of texture, yet light and luscious, the pie makes a pretty party dessert garnished with whipped cream and fresh, juicy orange sections.

Orange Velvet Cream Pie
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1 1/2 cups Florida orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated Florida orange rind
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped or
3/4 cup thoroughly chilled evaporated milk, whipped
1 9-inch baked pie shell

Soften gelatine in 1/4 cup cold orange juice in saucepan. Blend sugar, flour, and salt; add to softened gelatine; mix thoroughly. Place over medium heat; stir constantly until gelatine is dissolved and mixture is thickened. Remove from heat; add orange rind and remaining 1/2 cup orange juice and lime juice. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold into whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk. Turn into pastry shell and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and orange sections.

YIELD: 1 9-inch pie.

Next year he will want his own reading lamp. Next year he will need an extra waffle at breakfast, too, and there will be school clothes to be ironed. All of this will require more electricity, which is why demand doubles every eight years in rural areas.

In 1948 the average family served by the rural electric cooperative used 150 kilowatt hours of electricity per month. Today, this same family requires 450 kilowatt hours.

To stay ahead of this demand BRAZOS ELECTRIC POWER COOPERATIVE of Waco and BELFALLS ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE are continually upgrading their electric systems, Brazos for generation and transmission, BELFALLS ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE for distribution. BRAZOS ELECTRIC POWER COOPERATIVE provides electricity that is distributed by BELFALLS ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE and 18 other member-owned cooperatives to more than 200,000 people in the Brazos River Watershed. ## Large Variety Of Paper Clothes For Fun And Utility Available

COLLEGE STATION — We once thought a garment had to be old and worn out before it could be thrown away -- but not any more. That was before the debut of paper clothes, explains Rheba Boyles, Extension clothing specialist with Texas A&M University.

Paper dresses in bold designs and colors were first introduced as a gimmick, but their popularity is increasing. Designs are becoming more creative, and many are embossed in gold and silver for party wear.

One of the latest innovations is paper underwear. Garments of this type are available for both men and women. Men who travel and paper undershorts especially convenient since they don't have to take home a bag of dirty laundry at the end of a week.

Lingerie for the ladies is gay and more frivolous. Bras, panties, and slips are available in bold, gay colors. Garments like this are usually sold in kits, the price varying with the number of items in each kit. These same garments can be worn as beach or playwear.

but don't go swimming! No guarantees are made that the garments will stay together if wet.

Disposable garments are also used for utility and convenience. Current usage includes aprons, bibs, hospital lab coats, gowns for food processors, surgical gowns for nurses and physicians, and examination gowns worn by patients in doctor's offices.

Such household items as sheets, pillowcases, towels, and wash cloths made of paper will probably be used in the near future. Getting the price of garments and other items at a competitive level with laundry costs of the cloth equivalent has been a problem.

Manufacturers do not plan major production of paper garments until newer and simpler processes are developed. The paper used in the present-day paper garments is a sturdy cellulose product reinforced with rayon and nylon. Both fire and water resistant finishes can be applied. A luminous affect can also be added, making it useful for such items as highway workers' jackets.

'COPIED NATURE' TO BUILD BETTER HEARING AID

Electronics engineers of Maico Electronics, pioneer manufacturer of hearing instruments, admit that they "copied nature" to develop a tiny new hearing aid that will permit many hard of hearing persons to enjoy more natural "directional" hearing.

The quarter-ounce aid, worn behind the ear, differs from most current aids in that its microphone faces forward, to pick up sound primarily from the direction the wearer is facing.

Introducing the new aid, a company spokesman said, "The human ear is shaped and located to act as a sound 'funnel' or collector, that enables us to hear things better by 'aiming' at them—turning our head toward the sound source. We simply adapted this fact of nature to this new aid by putting the microphone up front, so it is 'aimed' in the direction the wearer is facing. The result is more natural hearing, with better localization of sound."

The new aid, called "DirectionEar", also features Maico's exclusive "Tone Selector Tuning", which enables it to be closely adjusted to compensate for individual hearing problems. It can be seen locally at

Mr. Doug Bertling will hold a Hearing Aid Service Center in the Milam Hotel (Downtown) 113 Main St. Cameron, Texas, Tuesday April 18th, 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

House Ag Committee Sets Hearing On Cotton Storage Cost

Congressman E. C. Gathings of Arkansas, Chairman of the Cotton Subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture, announced the Subcommittee will hold a public hearing April 19 to explore the cost of storing cotton.

"We want to find out what costs of such warehousing are now compared to two or three years ago," Cong. Gathings said.

"Warehouse operators contend that current storage revenues, at rates set by the government on government-held cotton, are too small for the warehouseman to survive. Of course we all know that the warehouseman's costs have increased. In these public hearings we hope to develop the information necessary for a sound and fair adjustment of the cotton storage rates set by the government," he said.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

—By—

J. D. MOORE

St. Augustine Lawn Needs Special Care

By J. D. Moore

Maintenance of our St. Augustine lawns has become a universal County problem. Because St. Augustine forms a dense, thick turf it is susceptible to certain diseases, notably large brown patch and leaf spot. Some of our local problems could be the result of over watering or too much rain last year. In addition, St. Augustine is susceptible to iron chlorosis (lack of available iron), is attacked by chinch bugs and needs more water to maintain than does common bermuda.

The most practical thing to do about the dead spots of grass is to remove the dead turf, take out about 3 inches of soil from the affected area, replace with good yard soil and re-sprig or sod the area. Areas treated in this manner by the County Agent have recovered and are apparently doing well. The areas were treated in March.

Grass needs feeding just as do cotton, corn, flowers and other crops. Nitrogen is the key element in turf production. It produces vegetative growth and gives the plant a deep green color.

Phosphorous stimulates development of a good root system. Potassium affects the physiological process of the plant. The three elements are necessary parts of all living plant tissue.

Iron deficiency causes pale, bleached leaves. This bleaching or yellowing is known as chlorosis and occurs on soils high in lime. To correct yellowing in grass, add 10 pounds of copperas to each 1,000 feet of yard area. Copperas can be purchased in 50 pound bags. If you are unable to buy copperas, the county agent can help you find the much needed material for your lawn.

In many cases, families do not feel that they are interested in going to the trouble and work required to maintain a lawn. In this case it would be advisable to replace the St. Augustine grass with common bermuda. It does not require the care that St. Augustine does.

Results of Texas Agricultural Experiment Station tests to control cotton seedling disease emphasize that in-covering soil fungicides effectively control cotton seedling disease.

Milam Educational Gains . . . .

Milam County is seeing a renaissance in education approaching the better funded metropolitan areas of Texas. A Milam County Literacy Council is the latest effort to raise the educational standards of its residents. It will organize volunteer teachers to hold classes for adults, some estimated 2400, who have third grade or less educations. Milam County schools are undergoing considerable change. Cameron Public Schools are making steady strides to improve physical and classroom caliber for the 310 square-mile district. Rockdale Public Schools maintain a high rating through the substantial tax base provided by Alcoa in Rockdale Independent School District. Both towns have new libraries. And Cameron Public Library is considering installation of audio-visual equipment for the most modern of facilities as it adds thousands of books. Rockdale is scheduled to get a separate facility for a rare book collection by a doctor from California who contributed a considerable sum for the construction of a new library there five years ago. Thorndale has opened a new school plant, a daring step for a community of 1,000 people. This measured sweep throughout new or established educational facilities should indeed give incentive to Milam Countians to broadcast what is happening to so basic a part of the Milam Community.

Favorable Water Rates . . . . .

The City's figures on Cameron's favorable water rate picture should look good, both to natives and prospective industry and residents. A look at the City charge for 100,000 gallons shows $31.95 compared to a state average of $33.65. At the opposite poll is the City minimum of $2.25 compared to the state average of $2.50. It would follow that Cameron has maintained economical water department operations during a period when the average of 977 other Texas cities has risen. This is an essential advantage when industrial prospecting is underway. And Cameron is prospecting. A labor study survey is being completed for the Cameron Industrial Foundation, Inc., and site work continues. The prospective resident would find this one of numerous advantages of living in a small city. The prospective industry would sense similar production advantage in other lower cost factors. News like this travels fast. And it will have to, even in dry weather, to keep up with ol' Cameron.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor: As I understand the international situation, one reason the Vietnam war is such a delicate matter where we can't do this or that to speed things up is that we might get Russia involved and open the way for World War III, and the Secretary of State is constantly pointing this out. I understand his position and it's his job to think about these things and keep cautious, but I was just wondering if he noticed a small news item out of Russia which might be an index. According to a newspaper I found on my front gate today -- this is the second time in two weeks I've pulled a paper off that gate and I don't know how much more it can take before it topples -- there are now about a million barbers and beauty shop operators in Russia. Many of the barbers are women. One woman barber, the article said, is such a favorite hasn't got enough hair to wash at cuttings hair in such a stylish manner that men wait as long as four hours for a haircut by her. I tell you, any country that's producing men who can wait four hours for a haircut is not about to start a war. I can understand how Sec. Rusk could overlook this. I've seen him on television and he certainly hasn't got enough hair to wait four hours to get it trimmed, but he ought to recognize that any man who can sit that long in a barber shop is a very poor prospect for starting World War III. Furthermore, this particular woman barber the article was talking about said she had rather cut men's hair than women's because "they appreciate the work more than women, and besides they want to be handsome." Also, the article said, Russian men are complaining because the barbers are using "atomizers from grandfather's time and are far behind barbers in other countries." I may be all wrong, but this certainly must be a significant piece of news out of Russia and I hope the Secretary of State takes it under advisement. When Russian men get interested in hair spray bombs, they may be getting less intrigued with the nuclear types. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Teachers Pay Bill On Way To House

By Vern Sanford AUSTIN A $170,000,000 pay raise bill for Texas school teachers now is in its flight through legislative thunderclouds. Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, sponsor of the legislation, steered it through the Senate Education Committee with ease. Aikin indicated he will move for Senate Passage after the general appropriations bill is passed. He has sufficient votes to send it to the House. Texas State Teachers Association President Sam M. Anderson of Big Spring told the Committee that this school year opened with an actual shortage of 1,200 teachers. Furthermore, some 5,000 of those now employed would not be working if capable replacements were available. By fall the teacher shortage is expected to grow worse unless salaries are improved. TSTA says Aikin's bill -- which provides raises of $61 to $100 a month with the biggest going to teachers with less experience -- still would leave Texas teachers $4 below the national average. Raises would necessitate a state appropriation of $170,000,000 for the next two years. Local school districts would add about $17,000,000 a year more, as their share. Additional state money involved is almost as much as Gov. John Connally's entire $187,300,000 tax program. For that reason this bill will play a significant part in the overall financial complexion of this legislative session. Connally's spending and revenue plans include $50,000,000 for teachers -- or a total raise of five per cent across the board. This is about one-third of what TSTA wants. While there is general feeling that teachers will get more money again this session, House sentiment appears to lean toward a lower figure than that covered by TSTA's bill, but a higher one than recommended by the governor. COMMITTEES GO TO WORK -- Quick action by various committees of the House and Senate in reporting out notable bills will keep Senators and Representatives busy during the coming weeks. Bills coming out: --Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee reported favorably without debate or controversy the proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Joe Bernal of San Antonio to lower the state voting age to 18. Bernal didn't even get to present his testimony or the numerous witnesses from all over the state. --Same committee favorably reported a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville to gradually do away with ad valorem taxes. --Rep. Temple Dickson of Sweetwater pushed through the House Judiciary Committee his Tort Claims Act, Which would do away with the doctrine that prohibits suits against the state and local governments without permission of the Legislature. --Senate Education Committee recommended passage of Sen. Wayne Connally's bill to exempt students from low-income families from having to pay tuition and fees at state-supported colleges and universities. --Enabling bill to allow the Parks and Wildlife Department to issue $75,000,000 in bonds to finance the purchase and development of parks around the state was reported favorably by the House Committee on Parks and Wildlife. Its companion constitutional amendment to authorize the bonds has been passed by both houses, but in different forms so it, too, is pending. BILLS SIGNED -- Governor Connally has signed two of this session's major bills into law: (1)

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Luecke: Thank you for your reply to my letter seeking information about the Chisholm Trail. As a hobby, I retrace historic trails. What began in just an interest in retracing a trail ended up in a research because of lack of information and much misinformation. I began with the Oregon Trail when I wanted to go to Oregon. I found there was NO information as to the exact route, so I had to dig in and dig out the exact route. Similarly, the Natchez Trace, the National Road, the Santa Fe Trail, etc. The Butterfield Overland Road was easy because a New York newspaper assigned a reporter to make the first trip and his trip was described in detail and these newspapers are still available in libraries such as our famous Newberry Library in Chicago. The Chisholm Trail is about the most complicated jig-saw puzzle, trailwise, that I have encountered. There was one original trail as established by Jesse Chisholm. But about the only certain thing is that he started at (present day) Wichita and went south. Ah, yes, he went south. But where? Or everywhere? One source stated he established a trading site on the present site of Oklahoma City. Several other sources state this location was at Council Grove (just west of Oklahoma City, I say, but the sources state it is north of Oklahoma City) but the present day authorities never heard of Council Grove. One map I have from the Library of Congress shows it so it must have been there. Other sources maintain the trading post was at Ft. Cobb, others at Anadarko. I have a statement from an "authority" that it was east of Chickasha. Another claims a trading post in Hughes County.

The above paragraph asks one question. What were the exact routes of the original Chisholm Trail, or original route? Similarly, McCoy was supposed to have marked out an extension of the Chisholm Trail from Wichita to Abilene. There is no record of an exact route, only a general reply that it went north. It is the same about the advertisements I ask. Where can they be located? Were there ever ANY advertisements? As mentioned in the previous paragraph, was the trail ever marked out with mounds of earth as some say, or as others say, with the longest furrow in the world? In asking for copies of items about the Chisholm Trail, I thought that sometime, someplace, some old-timer may have been interviewed and could just by accident say the few things that would complete this puzzle. Another thing that puzzles me is the Shawnee Trail's position in these cattle drives. Why the Shawnee Trail (it was a riskier trail) over the Chisholm Trail? So it goes, question after question. Thus far during the past two years on my vacation, I have retraced about two-thirds of the feeder routes of the Chisholm Trail. In 1965 I began at the extreme southern end at Brownsville and up into Oklahoma. I believe Austin papers carried a story on that as I went through Austin. Last year I began the feeder route beginning at Houston, going along the Brazos River into Waco and then continuing along another "original" Chisholm trading route, ending at a point in Oklahoma which I hope to pick up on this year's vacation after going over the several other feeder routes in Texas. I hope to reach Abilene this year and end going up the Chisholm Trail on its hundredth birthday. If all works out well, I will have covered ALL of the Chisholm Trail, and maybe have uncovered some answers to some of my questions. Some conclusions I already have but I need some substantiation. To really make an authoritative study would take many years more than the three or four years of research that I have given it. You ask why I selected your paper for inquiry. Yes, it was primarily for age. It is possible, if there ever were any advertisements, it would be run in your paper. One of the feeder routes went just east of your city so I would guess it would be a good place to advertise so the cattlemen would drive their cattle to Abilene instead of northeast toward Baxter City or some other route. I hope that answers your question. Any help you can give will be appreciated.

Sincerely
Al Carter

P.S. I feel that I am only an amateur historian looking over the shoulders of the real historians just to make certain that they stick to the facts. For a living or occupation, they call me a jazz drummer, though in my work I play all types of music. It's just like an editorial writer may sometimes write sports stories, or even obits.

Those were the first words Miss Olivia Gutierrez heard when she answered the call on her switchboard. A telephone operator in Laredo, Miss Gutierrez tells what happened: "It was from a man at the local bus station. He had spotted a boy who was obviously upset and alone. The man didn't know exactly what to do, so he dialed 'Operator' and asked me to talk with the boy." Miss Gutierrez did so and learned that 12-year-old Joel Barlow was on his way to Mexico City from Fort Wayne, Indiana, to visit relatives. He had missed connections and was stranded all alone in a strange town. "What do I do now?" he asked. "Just don't worry," said Miss Gutierrez. Then, with practiced efficiency, she swung into action. First, she called the boy's parents in Indiana. They weren't home. Joel was unsure about the spelling of his relative's name in Mexico City, but after 20 minutes of calling here and there, Miss Gutierrez managed to reach his grandmother. After the grandmother was assured Joel was all right, Miss Gutierrez reserved a motel room for the youngster. After work, she picked him up and drove him to the motel. Next day, she took Joel to her home. "He had a good time playing with my little brother about the same age," she noted. "They watched TV until it was time to meet the train." After checking Joel's ticket and travel papers, Miss Gutierrez arranged with some of her friends who were also on the train to make sure he arrived safely in Mexico City. "Joel was a very nice boy," said Miss Gutierrez. "The last thing I told him was, 'If you get into trouble, just call the operator.'" No one would have known how helpful Miss Gutierrez had been if Joel's father had not written a thankful letter to the telephone company in Laredo. His letter said in part, "... Joel arrived safely in Mexico City and his letters and a telephone conversation with him indicate that he is no worse for the experience. Were it not for the help of your operator, however, this could have been a truly traumatic experience..."

Miss Olivia Gutierrez knows that providing good telephone service sometimes calls for giving a little something extra. We're very proud of her.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Right to "Get Even"

Haled into court for beating up a neighbor's son, Hawkins offered the following explanation:

"He threw a rock at my little girl, so I went over and taught him a lesson."

But the court rejected Hawkins' excuse and ordered him to pay damages. Pointing out that the girl was no longer in danger at the time her father intervened, the judge said the right to protect did not include the right to punish.

By and large, the law does not give you the right to "get even" for a wrong inflicted upon you or your loved ones.

The reason lies in the "contract" between the individual and society. The individual gives up his right to punish a wrongdoer, in return for society's promise to do it for him.

To be sure, it may be difficult in a particular case to determine whether a person was acting to protect or to punish. Take this case:

A night watchman was rushed by a man wielding a knife. Drawing his gun, the watchman killed his assailant with two fast shots. But in due course, he himself was arrested and brought to trial on a homicide charge.

"His first shot was legitimate self-defense," conceded the prosecutor. "However, his second shot was fired after the man was already wounded. That was no longer self-defense. It was punishment."

But it also appeared that the victim, though wounded, was still armed, close, and dangerous. Dismissing the charge, the court held that the watchman's second shot, too, was within the reasonable scope of self-defense.

On the other hand: A landlord and tenant got into an angry scuffle, during which the tenant was knocked to the ground. While he was lying there helpless, the landlord gave him a swift kick in the head.

Because of the kick, the landlord was later held liable for assault and battery. The court said that, with danger past, the landlord had clearly acted out of sheer vindictiveness—and must therefore pay damages.

It was the law's way of echoing the warning of the poet La Fontaine:

"Revenge, however sweet, is dearly bought."

IRS Questions

Q - I filed my return last week and am expecting a refund. However, I just got a W-2 statement from a former employer I thought had gone out of business. What should I do?

A - If you included the income and withholding information from this W-2 on your return without attaching an explanation, wait until you are contacted by IRS. When your return is processed, the missing W-2 will be noted and you will be requested to supply it.

However, if you neglected to include this information and you discover this before the due date for filing, file a corrected return. To do this, fill out another return including all information previously reported plus the information that was missing. Type or print "corrected return" in the top margin of the form.

If this error is discovered after the due date for filing, follow the same procedure except that the return should be clearly marked "amended return" rather than "corrected return".

Q - We hire a housekeeper to take care of the kids several weeks last year while my wife was in the hospital for an operation. Can we claim the child care deduction?

A - To be eligible for the child care deduction, your wife's illness would have had to last at least 90 days. Check Page 9 of the 1040 instructions for further details.

Q - Our interest income was over $10 last year, but it was split up among several different banks. Do we have to report all of this or just the amount over $10 received from any one bank?

A - All interest from savings accounts must be reported as taxable income, whether or not it was reported to you on a Form 1099.

Q - Is state inheritance tax deductible?

A - No, it is not.

Q - Can I deduct a personal loan I can't collect?

A - If you have taken reasonable steps to collect the loan and if there is no likelihood that the debt may be recovered even by going to court, then you may deduct the amount of the loan as a short term capital loss. This should be reported on Schedule D of Form 1040.

Should you recover any part of the debt at any time in the future it must be included in your income, subject to special rules. Note that loans to children and other relatives may be considered gifts and not legal debts.

Q - I had to pay about $100 when I filed my 1966 tax return. Does that mean I should probably file an estimated return?

A - Declarations of estimated tax should be filed if your expected tax liability exceeds withholding by $40 or more and either (1) your 1967 estimated income exceeds $5,000 for a single individual or a married individual not entitled to file a joint declaration; and heads of households, certain widows and widowers and married couples entitled to file a joint declaration whose income exceeds $10,000; or (2) more than $200 of income is from sources not subject to withholding (dividends, interest, business profits, etc.).

If you meet these requirements for 1967, you should file a declaration of estimated tax Form 1040ES.

Q - My husband died in 1965 and I filed a joint return for that year. Can I file a joint return again for 1966 since I haven't remarried?

A - You may file using joint return rates for the two years succeeding the year of your husband's death if you maintain your home as the principal residence for a dependent child. Check page 3 of the 1040 instructions for details.

Q - Is it true that you don't have to pay tax on any profit from the sale of your home if you're in the Armed Forces?

A - No, members of the Armed Forces may still be liable for tax on profits from the sale of a home. The law, however, does have several special provisions on these sales which benefit members of the Armed Forces on active duty.

Every one's tax is postponed on profits from the sale of a home if another costing the same or more than the adjusted sales price of the one sold is purchased within one year before or after the sale. This also applies if another house is constructed and occupied not later than 18 months after the sale of the old one, but for Armed Services members, on active duty, this period is suspended for a period up to four years from the date of the sale.

Q - Can I use a statement from my doctor as substantiation for a medical expense?

A - The statement will be helpful, but you will also need records to show that the expense was paid during the tax year. If the doctor's statement included that information it would usually be acceptable as substantiation.

Q - Are dividends from a credit union savings account really dividends or are they considered interest?

A - They are considered interest and fully taxable.

SELF TREATMENT

The inclination to self - treat any illness is a natural one. However, in certain circumstances — especially where a condition persists for more than a few days—the practice can be dangerous.

Play it safe. Don't neglect an ailment that doesn't clear up promptly. Always consult your physician for proper diagnosis and treatment.

And when he gives you a prescription, bring it to our pharmacy. By patronizing our prescription department, you may be assured of the most dedicated attention to the care of your health.

The high spot of our family album! We've only seen Meg hold this solemn expression once before, when she was a freckled angel in the Sunday School pageant . . . and then she wasn't quite so cross-eyed!

Meg's our darling adopted daughter, and usually she's a little livewire . . . full of surprises. It was Meg's enthusiasm for Church School that led us to improve our own record of church attendance. It was Meg's searching question, "Why don't we ever thank God for dinner like the Andersons?" that revived the custom of mealtime grace in our home. And it was Meg's worry about "the poor hungry children" that eventually drew us into our work for the Mission Fund.

Frankly, we used to be "fringe Christians," giving God very little of our time or thoughts. Meg was God's instrument in showing us that our church really needs us . . . and that it is a blessed thing to be needed.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

Picture a big willow tree beside a stream. A fishing pole is stuck firmly in the bank. Out in the middle of the stream bobs a fishing float. Beneath the tree and beside the pole is an old codger fast asleep.

To some people this scene, often pictured on calendars, represents the heights of laziness. To others it represents relaxation.

But there's more to this picture than that. It contains a message every fisherman should heed. The picture spells patience!

Patience is something a fellow must have if he is to be a successful black-bass angler. Every really successful bass angler is one who forgets the jet age and fishes with the poikness of a snail.

We've fished often with many bass guides in Texas—as well as in neighboring states. All have one trait in common. They may rush to get you started on a fishing trip, but once they actually begin to fish they slow down to a dead crawl. No, they are not lazy. Nor are they loafing. They are going for the fish in a sure and deadly fashion.

exactly 12 casts in an hour. He had eight strikes and landed six bass . . . with the largest hitting five pounds.

On the same trip and from the same boat his companion made 30 casts in an hour and caught four bass. The guide caught more fish although his buddy worked 2 1/2 times as hard.

Slow fishing is hard to do. But once you master the technique, your score on putting fish in the boat will climb sharply.

Try it next time you're out.
